Health Dept. Needs $20,000

There will be a special meeting within the October town meeting to act on additional funds for the Board of Health.

This was the decision resulting from a meeting of Town Manager J. Maynard Austin, the Finance Committee and selectmen Tuesday night.

The voters will be asked to provide $18,000 for expenses and $2,000 for personal services, to operate the department for the rest of this fiscal year.

The mater was before the FinCom to see if they would approve a request for a transfer from the reserve fund, but after considerable discussion, it was decided to go the special meeting route.

The funds are needed to keep the health department in operation and its inspection and consulting services going.

In the process of arriving at the decision, the town manager was questioned about several of the efforts of the health department, the processes of consultant services and whether the money now being asked would be enough for the year.

There was feeling among FinCom members that possibly $35,000 would be more reasonable to expect for operation of the services of the health department.

There was also consideration of the manager's use of the compensation fund, an item which stirred controversy at Monday's selectmen's meeting.

The compensation fund, FinCom and selectmen maintain, is for use only in negotiating settlements in collective bargaining processes, or possibly to increase some non-union salaries to a level of those attained through new contracts.

The town manager was told Tuesday night that the FinCom did not choose to place additional money in the compensation fund for the health department matter, or for changes in job descriptions.

Mrs. Virginia Cole asked Austin if he had ever considered placing consultant work out to bid, particularly if such effort is to be over an extended period of time, and the manager replied in the negative.

Post Office

Petition Drive GainsImpetus

Over 7,000 signatures have been obtained seeking to keep Andover's postal service as is — the central office with all present services as well as the Ballardvale and Shawsheen substations.

Postal workers and residents alike canvassed areas of the town last weekend and will continue this weekend seeking assistance in blocking a move of the distributing and processing facilities to Lawrencew on Nov. 5.

Following over two years of search for a new postal facility for Andover, officials of the U. S. Postal Service informed the town this month that the plan now is to keep the central office on Main Street renovate it, provide more boxes, maintain financial services and move everything else to Lawrence.

The action brought an immediate response from the postal workers and residents of the community, particular in the Ballardvale and Shawsheen areas where substations are to be closed.

The postal workers informed selectmen of their work at this week's meeting, indicating that they had contacted union officials in an effort to block the move of processing facilities to Lawrence.

That plan includes the use of postal Jeeps to come back to Andover for mail delivery. There are now 17 vehicles used by the Andover post office. The move to Lawrence will require 29.

John J. Hannon, national vice president of the postal clerk craft union has requested a meeting with regional manage-

Austin, Bowen Clash

Charges of "sandbagging," and "stalling tactics," flew Monday night as selectmen acted on a managerial appointment which included use of money from the town's compensation fund.

Dorothy Winn, 59 Andover Road, Billerica, will be offered the job of director of Andover Haven, rather than the position of co-ordinator of elder affairs, as had been proposed by the town manager.

An explosive exchange erupted between Manager Austin and Selectman Richard J. Bowen over the position, after the manager explained that he was upgrading the position in response to a question from Bowen.

The new position would have carried a salary of $11,000, while the former post, director of the Haven had been budgeted at $8,800.

Bowen asked where the money was coming frolm, and Austin replied from the compensation fund.

Extra Effort

Soccer sometimes requires a little contortionist effort, and Steve Luby supplied the proper measure last Saturday morning in Andover's win over Methuen. Warrior booters had a good week last week, story on page 20.

UF Drive Kickoff Tonight

The Merrimack Valley United Fund will kick-off its 1977-78 campaign to support the programs and services of 67 local agencies at its kick-off dinner, Thursday, Sept. 29 at Central Catholic Auditorium, Lawrence. This year's kick-off will mark the seventh campaign as a valley-wide effort.

The dollar goal for this year's campaign will be announced at Thursday's dinner, however, "Fair Share" giving will again be the theme for this year's campaign. "Fair Share" giving by all types of firms and employee groups across the Valley is the only means by which the United Fund can raise adequate monies to meet the many needs for services and programs", United Fund President, Walter B. Reilly, Jr., said in stressing the importance of Fair Share giving.

To improve United Fund participation and add a new touch to this year's campaign, a new local campaign film with Steve Grogan of the New England Patriots will be featured. United Fund campaign officials hope this year's film will gain wide exposure in explaining United Fund services.

Arm Your Child

The Andover Board of Health urges parents to cooperate with the school department and have their child's immunization record brought up to date by Nov. 1.

The State law requires immunization against diphtheria, tetanus, pertussis (whooping cough), polio and measles. Immunization against mumps and rubella, although not required, is strongly recommended.

The provisos are:

1. A physician's certificate listing immunizations given and/or the diseases the child has had (parent or guardian's statement if physician's record is not available for one reason or another).

2. A physician's certificate stating immunization is not advisable for health reasons.

3. A parent or guardian's statement that immunization conflicts with religious belief.

Any child immunized with Measles Vaccine prior to one year of age must be reimmunized.

Any child immunized with Measles Vaccine prior to 1966 should check with the physician to determine whether revaccination is indicated.

Polio and DPT immunizations must be brought up to date and boosters entered in school health records.

Appointed Program Supervisor

George H. Kwiecien, 24, 18 Clearview Road, Stoneham, has been named program supervisor for the Recreation/Community Schools department.

Town Manager J. Maynard Austin made the appointment which was confirmed by the selectmen Monday night.

Kwiecien, a recipient of a master's degree in public recreation administration this June from Penn State University, will replace Mark Klempa, who resigned from the past this spring to accept a post in California.

A graduate of Melrose High school, Kwiecien received a B.A. degree in public recreation administration from the University of Massachusetts, Amherst.

Also approved by the selectmen Monday night was the appointment of Atty. Joseph Grasso, Jr., to the Conservation Commission for a three year term.

Atty. Grasso is a graduate of Dartmouth and Harvard Law School.

Priority List Is Changed

The selectmen Monday night approved the change in priority for use of state highway funds.

On recommendation of Town Manager J. Maynard Austin, Haverhill street will be considered for improvement before River Road, due to traffic conditions.

It's FAF, Not PCS Now

The old, familiar PCS, the Parent's Confidential Statement filled out by college-bound students' parents in hopes of obtaining financial aid, is being replaced by a new, "multiple data entry form" called the FAF (the Financial Aid Form).

A Massachusetts student will now be able to apply for the Massachusetts State Scholarship, the Basic Education Opportunity Grant (BEOG) and the College/University Aid Programs by submitting one financial statement — the FAF.

According to the Andover High Guidance Department, the FAF will arrive at the school for distribution to students in December.

Enrollment Drops On School Agenda

The unexpected declines in enrollment at Shawsheen School and Andover High will be on the school committee's agenda when it meets Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in Stowe School.

No. Andover Gets $1.5 M Housing Grant

Five months of coordinated efforts between U. S. Representative Michael Harrington, members of his staff and the Director of the North Andover Housing Authority have proven successful in winning a $1.5 million HUD grant for 45 units of new elderly housing in the Town of North Andover.

The good news came to Congressman Harrington in a call late Friday afternoon from HUD officials in Washington who announced that North Andovers' application had been approved.

HUD officials told Harrington that the federal government would put up a $1,582,875 loan for the project which would be repayed by an annual HUD contribution of $113,603 to the town. The annual funds will go towards repayment of the principal investment and any interest charges.

Harrington aide Carolyn O'Connor, and Louis Minicucci, Executive Director of the North Andover Housing Authority worked closely on the project over the summer as they coordinated their efforts to convince HUD officials of the urgent need for elderly housing in the North Andover community. Apparently their efforts have proven successful as HUD announced approval of all 45 units requested by the town.

According to HUD regulations, at least 10% of the units will be fitted for handicapped persons. Rents charged to those elderly persons residing in the units will be kept to a minimum as they will only go toward paying the operating expenses of the facility. The cost of the project itself and interest charges on the loan will be paid out of HUD'S annual contribution to the town.

Oct. 6 is the date for the Nature Group meeting, conducted by Co-Chairmen George W. Glennie, Andover and John E. Werren, Methuen. Members are requested to bring Foliage slides for comments.

On Oct. 13, Janyce G. Ingalls will present "Through Children's Eyes" and "Windows on the Gospels." These slides were taken of the windows of 52 churches in the Greater Lowell and Greater Boston areas. Janyce has been taking pictures seriously since 1969 and joined the Lawrence Camera Club in 1975.

William W. Sorensen, Newburyport, will conduct a workshop on Oct. 20, on "How to Make Christmas Cards Without a Darkroom." Bill is the workshop Chairman of the club, and specializes in monochrome prints.

The monthly slide and print competition on Oct. 27 will be judged by Simon Rosen, MNEC, of Wakefield. A Min-Show, "Reflections of 20 years of Fun in Photography" will be presented by John E. Werren, Methuen.

Other club activities for October are field trips, the first to Boston on Sunday, Oct. 2, and Mystic Seaport, Conn. over the October 22-23 weekend.

$5M Bequest To Academy

Phillips Academy, Andover, opened its 200th academic year by announcing a brequest of $5,000,000 from a former scholarship student, Walter Scott Leeds '08, of Palm Beach, Florida. Mr. Leeds, who left the bulk of his estate to the coeducational school, attended Andover for less than one year in 1904-05.

Andover's headmaster, Theodore R. Sizer, said "Mr. Leed's gift is one of the five largest to any secondary school in modern times."

"Mr. Leeds was a scholarship student at Andover; his magnificent gift will help keep Andover 'ever equally open to Youth of every quarter,' as our founders stipulated 200 years ago." Andover's first scholarship funds were set up by 1789; this year $951,700 in scholarships and other financial aid are assisting nearly a third of the 1,089 boys and girls at Andover.

Andover's current Campaign total is brought to $20,027,623 by the Leeds bequest and other recent fitts, Bicentennial Campaign Chairman Melville Chapin announced Friday. Noting that Mr. Leeds had made his bequest in response to the Campaign's needs and goals, he said "our goal of $50,610,000 now seems achievable."

Massachusetts Governor Michael Dukakis will come to the Andover campus Friday, to address students of the first boarding school incorporated in the nation. In 1780, John Hancock signed Phillips Academy's Articles of Incorporation as the last Act of Massachusetts' old Provincial Legislature.

Walter Scott Leeds was born in Waynesburg, Pennsylvania, in 1884 of Welsh ancestry and left home at the age of fifteen to work in a shipyard. Realizing the limitations of a scanty education, he applied to Andover, where he received a scholarship in September, 1904. He was forced tow ithdraw from the school because of some misdemeanor, but parted with Andover and its Principal, Dr. Afred E. Stearns, with appreciation and respect. This is evidenced by Leeds's correspondence with Stearns and his regular gifts to Andover's alumni annual giving up to his death last May at 93.

In 1912, Leeds set up a steel warehousing business in Chicago, in partnership with Carl Kelly, which became the La Salle Steel Company. Leeds officially retired to Florida in 1927, but took active interest as an investor in several major companies and traveled and read widely. Walter Scott Leeds was a self-made man who prized selfreliance, simplicity and knowledge.

Presented by the Andover Artists Guild and the Recreation/Community Schools department, the show will be held from 9 to 6 in Central Park.

Rain date is Sunday.

Cory Staid, Guild president, is heading up show arrangements and says all fine art forms will be exhibited, including water colors, oils, photographs, arcylics and graphics.

Each artist will choose one of his or her works to be judged by a trio of professionals for a Best In Show award of $150 plus an engraved Paul Revere Bowl contributed by the Andover Center Merchants. Second and third prizes of $75 and $50 will also be awarded, along with six honorable mention ribbons.

The judges, all teachers at the Boston University Art School and affiliated with Fenway Studios in Boston, are Jack Kramer, Stephen Searles and Helen Bishop.

As a preview to Saturday's show, Center merchants this week are exhibiting work of Andover Guild members in their downtown windows.

Guild members who will be participating Saturday include Cory Staid, Jean DeRosa, Cindy Townsend, Jane Trumbore, Karen Harris, Ruth Wierenga, Jan Miller, Shirley D'Agati, James Eisenhauer, David Sullivan and Norma Gammon.

Show programs will list all artists, as well as private individuals who, through their contributions are helping to sponsor the show.

Students from Andover ABC will once again be running the refreshment booth throughout the day.

The manatee eats 100-200 pounds of aquatic plants a day; one calf is born every three years, Massachusetts Audubon tells us.

AFS Returnee Talks About Life In Turkey

By Becky McCann

Donna Pantaleo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pantaleo, 4 Bradley Road, recently returned from Turkey where she lived with a Turkish family for 10 weeks through the American Field Service Abroad program. Donna is extremely enthusiastic about her unique experience and is eager to share it with everyone.

Donna's Turkish family lives in Istanbul, the capital city made up of about 2.5 million people, all of whom live in apartments. Prior to her arrival in Istanbul, Donna knew no Turkish. Suddenly submerged in the new culture however, she learned the language quickly. In her family were three sisters ages 14, 17, and a sister 21 who was married and no longer living at home. Her 17 year old sister spoke a bit of English but for the most part iw was up to Donna to learn Turkish and use sign language in order to communicate.

After her first two weeks in Istanbul Donna and her new family travelled by minibus to the village of Yalikoy on the Black Sea where they spent the rest of the summer. The village contrasted greatly with Istanbul as it consisted of about 100 people — all seemingly related, according to Donna. As Donna talked of her experience it became clear that she was considered another member of the family. In fact, many people there thought that she was a cousin or some other relative of the family.

The women of the Turkish culture spend much of their time doing hand needle work. The young girls make things for their dowery. When the women learned that Donna had not yet prepared anything for her dowery, they made things for her and taught her their skills. The very restricted role of the womeen in Turkish society was perhaps the most difficult adjustment Donna had to make in her new "world."

The most impressive part of the new culture for Donna was the closeness of the family. Even the extended family was important and relatives visited frequently. Also obvious to Donna was the fact that the people of the family expressed their feelings as well as other emotions to one another more openly than is customary in our culture.

When asked what aspect of the Turkish culture she would like to see imported by our culture Donna replied "the slower pace of life". The more leisurely tempo seemed to allow people to be themselves, to be happy, and to be more aware of one another. After hearing all this it is not surprising that Donna chose the following three adjectives to describe the Turkish culture; "Warm", "affectionate," and "open."

When asked what she may have learned about herself through her summer AFS experience, Donna commented that through her new cultural perspective she began to see herself as a rather selfish individual. After hearing of the experience into which Donna obviously threw herself it is hard to imagine Donna as a selfish person. It is clear that she gave much of herself.

If you see a small amount of white fluffy mold on food, it's a good idea to throw away the item. The fluff is actually the "bloom" of the mold - and where this is bloom, there are often deep, widespread roots.

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS

Different Testing To Be Studied

School officials indicated last week that Andover test scores have gone about as far as they can go on current external exams, and Supt. Kenneth R. Seifert is considering more difficult ones.

A change to harder tests would require a "significant" amount of community understanding, however, because he said scores would probably drolp again — a phenomenon that has aroused community concern in the past.

At the same time, Seifert said he might recomend a change in emphasis away from subjects specifically tested, and toward the writing and speaking skills used "in life."

At last week's school committee meeting, Seifert reported that all of last year's subtest scores for Grades 1 through 3 were above the 70th percentile nationally (50 percent is the national average), as called for by the committee two years ago.

Ninety-six percent of the subtests for Grades 4 through 9 were also above the 70th percentile, Seifert said, attributing the "near miss" to a couple classes that still have some trouble with spelling.

He quickly added that any score above 50 is above the national norm, though a score that is only slightly above the national norm would be considerably below the Andover norm.

He said Andover students were scoring "extremely well" and that the trend in last year's scores was slightly upward once again.

He said, however, that he felt the present tests weren't discriminatory enough at the upper levels, and said he will come back in the near future with a recommendation for a more difficult test — which then means the results will be lower.

Andover has been on a course of measuring things which can be measured, he went on, whereas there are two areas which need significant work — speaking and writing — with no tests to compare them on a national or even local basis. Meanwhile, he said, employers are constantly coming back to the schools complaining about lack of those skills in young people looking for jobs.

Committeeman Joseph Finn said people in town have come to expect scores to be significantly above the national average, and that Andover now is getting into the position where "it would be difficult to do much better."

He said there isn't so much community discussion about basic skills anymore, "which indicates a level of satisfaction."

However, he cautioned against shifting emphasis and tests at the same time, and complimented Seifert on his "courage" to consider a harder or different test would give different results.

Seifert responded that he would prefer to do it "when we're at the top."

Chairman David Ahouse, who said he would favor more improved and discriminatory testing, was also "very pleased" at the level of results.

"It has gotten to the point that we can produce at the same level every year," he said, "yet we aren't getting all we want out of the tests."

Spelling was the weakest of last year's subtests, with Grade 6 scoring at the 67th percentile and Grade 9 at the 64th percentile, while all others were above 70.

On the other hand, math/basic concepts scores were so high Seifert said he would

Vale Church To Mark Anniversary

The Ballardvale United Church will observe a celebration of being in their new building for ten years on the weekend of Nov. 11-13.

The first worship service in the new structure was held on Nov. 26, 1967.

The Anniversary committee is chaired by James McLeod and includes Ernest Hall, Eldon Salter, Ruth Mattheson, Pat Brouillard, Florence Letters, and Dave Hollenbeck. A dance, a supper, a night of remembering, a special morning worship service, and Sunday evening vespers are to be part of the weekend. Every effort will be made to include the original building committee, former members who have moved away from Andover, former pastors, and our oldest members. It is hoped that many friends from the community at large will join in this occasion.

Activities this week at the Ballardvale Church include an observance of World Wide Communion Sunday at 11 a.m., a Pot Luck Supper for the Senior High Youth Group 7-8:30 at the church, Trustees meeting on Monday night, finance and anniversary committees meeting on Tuesday evening, with Wednesday night taken by the Junior High meeting 4:30-6, Choir rehearsal at 7:45 and a planning meeting for the Andover Church Basketball League in Room 7 at 8 p.m.

Wallpaper was invented in the 16th century when someone discovered that the paper lining used for books would look good on walls.

Final Preparations For Fair

Final preparations are underway for the Unitarian-Universalist Church of Andover's second gala "Das Puppenhaus" (The Doll's House) Fair to be held on Saturday Oct. 15 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

In addition to the hand-made dolls and stuffed animals made in worshops during the past months, regional visitors and shoppers can look forward to a display of wooden toys, a Children's Bazaar staffed by the young people of the congregation, a tempting display of baked goods and a "greenery" room with seasonal dried flowers and many popular varieties of plants, cultivated since last weinter.

Church members will be given the first opportunity to purchase "Celebrity Cookbook" at a Friday evening preview party being held to provide an overview of the finished hand work. The unusual receipe collection contains contributions from famous men and women throughout America, as well as specialities from the kitchens of member cooks. Nothing else will be sold during this time. Another feature of this year's fair will be a luncheon of Quiche Lorraine and salad. Coffee and doughnuts will be available during the morning and early afternoon.

"Show Stoppers", unique dolls and animals done on a limited or one-of-a-kind basis will be an added bonus for early Saturday shoppers. Included in this category are oversized Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy, braid-trimmed elephants, purple-robed angels, rainbow-hued 48" long knit snakes.

At 2:30 p.m. children can enjoy a special production of theatre being finalized with a professional group.

Among those working on this ambitious program are Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Schoonover, Dr. and Rev. Lehman-Becker, The David Youngs, Jill Gardner, the Ken Garlands, Sue Tucker, the Charles Fausts, Joyce Stier, the Spencer Johnsons, Adeline Wright, Paula McAfee, Moyra Baker, Barbara Rozelle, Mary Brown. Other parishioners will be involved in a vareity of ways before and during the event.

The church doors will open to the public at 10 a.m. and it is expected that regional shoppers will quickly fill the newly-paved parking lot of this striking contemporary-design church complex located at 244 Lowell St., (Route 133) in Andover.

Songbirds migrate at an altitude between 1500 and 6000 feet, at 18 to 25 miles per hour, Massachusetts Audobon tells us. They usually fly at night, orienting their position by stars and star groups. Birds tend to fly higher over land than over water; they fly higher in the Fall than in the Spring over the U.S.

Good Week For Booters

This last week was a busy but very successful week for the Warrior booters. They competed in three games and came out with two wins and a tie. All three games were heavily contested and Andover did well in posting this record. Added to the first weeks totals Andover is tied for first place with Wilmington with three wins and a tie. Wilmington dumped previously undefeated Billerica to retain their share of first place. Billerica had a string of 23 undefeated league games going into the tilt with Wilmington.

Last week's Monday game was against Wilmington, a replay of the postponed game from Friday. The final was one to one with Andover out shototing Wilmington three shots to Wilmington's every two. This game was previously described, in another article.

The second game of the week came on a cold wet Wednesday afternoon on Andover's field. Austin prep was the victim but only by the slimist of margins. The final in the contest was two to one Andover, but in actuality it was Austin which Scored two of the goals. One unfortunately for them was a self goal as the pressure applied by Rich O'Hara was too much for the fullback who passed the ball back to his goalie but it was over his head into the goal. This came only two minutes after Austin scored on a penalty kick following a hand ball in Andover's penalty area. The fullbacks had ball stopped a sure goal but it was to no avail, as Steve Kelly slamed home a perfect penalty shot for the 1-0 leaad.

After the next score credited to Andover the game remained scoreless with Andover dominating the play but unable to score until two minutes were left in the game. There was a wild scramble in front of the Austin net with Andover players taking at least three shots all turned back by Brian Hebert the goalie, and the defenders. The ball finally came loose to the edge of the penalty area where left half back Peter Price hit the ball home on a low hard accurate shot in the corner. It was elation for the Andover team and they held off Austin for the remaining two minutes.

Sometimes it is fortunate circumstances like that which turn things around. Andover was playing a solid team game all over the field with each member contributing to the total. And, although the goal was deserved because of the pressure it just didn't aappear that it was going to come. It was the team effort which wore down the opposition and the never say die attitude of the Andover players which kept pounding on the door.

This same attitude was carried over to the third game of the week last Saturday mroning the Golden Warriors played their first of many Saturday games. The change has been made to make it more convenient for the parents of the players to see them in action. Saturday's opponent was Methuen always a tough and well coached opponent led by Junior Goal Keeper Chris Childs. The day dawned cloudy, but it waited until game time to rain. Once again on a wet field Andover dominated outshooting Methuen two to one. Dave Farrell scored two goals in rapid sucession during the second period, both goals were set up by Dave Yates who sent Farrell through the Methuen defense with good lead passes, giving him a one on one with the goalie and each time he beat the goalie by shooting around him, rather than trying to over power him. Both plays to Farrell were set up by the excellent wing play of Rich O'Hara and Tom Keefe who kept the defense thinking all day and

In Sunday Piano Recital

Joan Rowland

On Sunday, Oct. 2, the Phillips Academy Music Department will present Joan Rowland Thornton in a piano recital. This recital is the first of the fall Sunday afternoon Recital series at the Academy. The recital will take place at 3 p.m. in the Addison Gallery of American Art.

Joan Rowland Thornton made her debut as a pianist in Toronto at the age of eleven with the Toronto Symphony, and has appeared with them many times since, recently under the baton of Andre Kostelanetz. She was a first prize winner at the Mozarteum Competition in Darnstadt, Germany, and has concertized extensively in recitals and as soloist with orchestras in Europe and North America. She has also toured with chamber groups, among them the Reginald Kell Players and the Columbia Canadian Trio.

After her last Town Hall recital in New York, a critic wrote, "a virtuostic and extremely musical account — the most impressive aspect of Miss Rowland's playing was her exceptional musicianship".

Her musical studies have been with Mona Bates in Toronto, Edward Steuermann and Karl Schnabel in New York, where she now makes her home.

Mrs. Thornton has a son, Hugh, who is a senior at the academy. He has studied piano with Mrs. Jeanne Porter during his time in Andover.

To Give Recital At P.A.

Bass-baritone John Stephens will be returning to Phillips Academy Oct. 4-10. Stephens has been reappointed to the Edward John Noble Foundation Affiliate Artist with the Dublin School, Phillips Academy/Andover, Vermont Academy and The Phillips Exeter Academy for the 1976-77 season. During this time, he will be performing for various organizations in the Andover-Lawrence area.

His visit to Andover will include a recital featuring songs by Schubert, Gounod, Vaughan Williams, Benjamin Britten and Charles Ives. He will be accompanied on the piano by Barbara Katuzman. The recital will take place in Kemper Auditorium on Friday, Oct. 7 at 8 p.m. Kemper Auditorium is located in the Visual Arts Center across from the Andover Inn.

Stephens holds a Doctorate of Musical Arts from the University of Illinois, and was a Fulbright Scholar in Hamburg, West Germany in 1973-74. He began his professional career with the Lake George Opera Festival in 1973 as Reverend Hale in The Crucible and Dr. Bartolo in The Barber of Seville, and since then has appeared each season, in roles ranging from Prison Warden Frank in Die Fledermaus to the Speaker in The Magic Flute and Pistole in Falstaff.

John Stephens

In the summer of 1974, at the Saratoga Performing Arts C enter with the New York City Ballet, John Stephens was bass soloist in Leonard Bernstein's Dybbuk Variations. That fall he appeared at the Metropolitan Opera in the American premiere of Benjamin Britten's Death in Venice and in the American Opera Center's Tosca. During the 1975 season with Opera New England, under the baton of Sarah Caldwell, he played Don Basilio in The Barber of Seville; at the Kennedy Center in Washington, D. C., he was bass soloist in Bach's B Minor Mass.

Dr. Stephens returned in 1977 to Sarasota, Florida for his third season with the Asolo Opera Company. There he sang Seneca in The Coronation of Poppea and the title role in Don Pasquale.

There is no admission charge and the public is invited to attend.

Harvest Show In Boston

The Fall Flower & Harvest Show is truly a "family affair," with many activities and exhibits especially geared for youngsters.

Children under 12 years of age will be admitted free, when accompanied by a parent to the 5-day festival to be held Oct. 7-11 at Horticultural Hall, 300 Mass. Ave., Boston, across from Symphony Hall.

Youngsters will be busy throughout the show creatively "making up" jack-o-lanterns . . . putting together "funny faces with vegetables" . . . and observing a variety of education displays on horticultural subjects.

The Mass. Audubon Society, for example, will describe the mutual relationship between birds and vegetables; and continuous demonstration lectures will enlighten show-goers about proper houseplant care, terrariums and many other practical topics helpful in the classroom and at home.

All the show visitors — young and old — will marvel at gorgeously arranged floral settings and exquisite garden settings landscaped by leading nurseries in New England.

When appetites call, visitors can enjoy cider, apples and other food at an outdoor cafe.

Princes Street

Jubilee Year England

Edinburgh At Large

By Raymond B. DeRuisseau

One free day on a tightly scheduled itinerary is a relief. So all applauded a day to follow one's own pursuits in Edinburgh. There is much to see.

The castle affords a bird's eye view of the city and of the Firth of Forth, tranquil and within range of the big, old-time muzzle loader cannon meant to deny its use in years past.

Our guide on the tour around the castle was the chief of guides and very witty. Smartly clad in Black Watch tartan trousers, a short jacket and topped with a beribboned Glen Gary cap his method of showing us around was most enjoyable. With a knobbed walking cane, which he employed liberally as a pointer, his technique was to tell us what we were going to see next, point to it with the cane, then get us going with a jocular "Lead on Macduff". From time to time, in reciting the history of the bastion, he would smilingly refer to the "enemy". The enemy being the English. He went to great lengths in showing us the small room where Mary Queen of Scots, that tragic Queen, came to give birth to her son, who became James VI, King of Scotland and later James I, King of England. The Queen resided in Holyroodhouse but when local conditions became dangerous she took refuge in the safety of the castle, a redoubtable fortress.

Here is the impressive museum dedicated to the famous "Ladies from Hell", a tribute to the kilted Scottish regiments who have served in England's and Scotland's wars. Registers bear the names of all who have given their lives in service of the king. Particularly intriguing to us were the records of the famous Black Watch, long inscribed on the pages of history.

Outside the gates and among the throng of tourists were two active duty soldiers in their kilted uniforms. Their function is to cheerfully pose with visitors who want a photographic souvenir of their visit. On the vast terrace just outside the entrance to the castle, much construction was going

The Language of Flowers

by Gerry Trull

Sugar and spice and everything nice makes a fragrant potpourri or sachet. To give moths a fit, sweet oranges or apples, tart lemons or limes — plus cloves are the ingredients you need. Stud the fruit completely with cloves and let dry for two weeks in a cool, dry place wrapped in white tissue paper. Tie a pretty ribbon around the fragrant and hang in the closet. The moths will hate you! For delicious smelling closets and drawers, collect rose petals, geraniums, jasmine, orange blossoms, herbs and leaves and make your own potpourri. They are easy. All you need is a book from the library and a creative nose. They make wonderful gifts, too!

And when you want to say Happy Birthday, Happy Anniversary or just Thank You, say it with flowers from TRULL'S MILL HILL FLOWER CENTER, 411 River Rd., 851-6161. We feature a wide selection of fresh cut, silk and dried flowers; hanging plants, table plants; and floor plants for you to express your sentiments with. FTD and InterFlora florists, we can deliver your floral gift almost anywhere in the world. Open: 9-5:30 Mon-Sat.

on. Being erected were large spectator stands in preparation for the annual Edinburgh International Festival. Held this year from August 21 to September 10, the festival attracts world wide attention with its music, theater, drama, opera and art productions drawing the cream of international talent. One of the spectaculars of the long program is the Military Tattoo in which pipe bands and other contingents from the armed forces of Britain and from overseas give displays on the terrace.

Leaving the castle behind we made our way down the famous Royal Mile which leads from the fortress downhill to Holyroodhouse. The mile is actually three streets running into one another, Lawnmarket, High and Cannongate but has always been known historically as the Royal Mile. It terminates at Holyroodhouse, castle home of Scottish kings and principally of Mary Queen of Scots. Queen Elizabeth II, a direct descendant of Mary, takes up residence here when she is in Edinburgh.

Strolling along Princes Street, it becomes plain to see why it is called the most beautiful avenue in Europe. Wide and clean, in every direction one sees beauty in architecture, in gardens and in attractive shops lining the street. Traffic is heavy but did not appear to have the impatient hurry that we noted in London. The attire of the pedestrians had the same look we see on our own big city streets. Denims are there, too.

Tourism is heavy in the capital and accordingly Tartans are conspicuous in the shop windows. They are the real thing and look it. Each with its proper name and each with its proud clan tradition. Of course, it was a shopping spree and our newspaper people came away with a variety of tartan applications, grinning as they held up their shopping bags.

We were exposed to many things we didn't know in our saunter up Princes. It takes eight yards of tartan to make one kilt, an interesting shop display told us. A complete traditional Scots outfit for a gentleman costs about $500, American. A Dress Gordon skirt, complete with horse blanket safety pin went for 19 pounds. Another interesting sidelight, and a startling one, was to observe all the security measures evident in the shops. Striking up a conversation with one of the numerous clerks, all very friendly and very professional, we wanted to know if their shops were also plagued with shoplifting? Indeed they are. "How long has this sort of thing been going on?", we wanted to know. "Oh, for quite a long while now.", replied the woman. In one shop we observed the manager unlocking the cash drawer to make change then relocking it immediately after the transaction. Surprise is expressed at this for the people of the United Kingdom are known to be a disciplined people. Indeed, the majority still are. The cleanliness and orderliness one observes on the roadsides, no beer bottles or cans and no trash. The parks are free from debris and the flowers are not trod upon nor pulled out by the roots for kicks. Yet, there are cracks showing in the traditional behavior patterns.

Later on we were to see evidence of the topless male. First observed at Stratford Upon Avon, and this by what we imagined was an American tourist, we later saw it on Regent street in London.

There were other evidences of changing times. On Shandwick Place a pub sign announced that "Go-Go" girls performed from 12 noon on. On Princes Street, in broad daylight, one of our party saw an elderly woman slugged and her handbag taken while incredulous onlookers gaped in stunned disbelief. These are trying times everywhere, it seems.

Our pro golfers were tuning up at Turnberry for the British Open but getting out there was out of the question. So, unfortunately, was a visit to the golf shrine of St. Andrews, only some 30 miles from our hotel. The golfers in our crowd had to settle for a visit to a sports shop. All to be seen were American-made clubs and the golf balls bore our brand names except that some were of the smaller official British size.

Heading back to the Caledonian for afternoon tea we observed and compared notes on the street transit system. The two-decker busses went by with regularity and appeared sparkling clean. A girl attendant at the hotel's newspaper/tobacco shop told us she didn't consider them clean at all. "Have you been aboard one?", she asked. We confessed we hadn't. Her displeasure, she said, was papers in the aisles. Yes, the service was good. This young lady lives about three miles from her work and pays 15 pence (approximately 27¢) for her bus trip. Charges are based on "stages". Five pence for the first four stages and the scale rises from that point.

Lastly we spotted a Kentucky Fried Chicken emporium complete with red and white stripes up on a side street. It was time to go and have tea.

Next we look into the production of two types of liquid gold in Scotland. The black, which is oil, and the amber, which is whiskey.

Telephone Directories Delivered

Some 83,000 copies of the new telephone directory are being delivered to customers in the Lawrence area.

Local New England Telephone manager Laurence Gibson said the new directory includes listings of customers in Andover, Lawrence and Salem, N.H.

More than 3.6 million listings were carried in last year's set of the most popular reference books in New England.

Telephone directories are updated on a daily basis, year round, by a staff of employees at New England Telephone's directory center in Lynn.

Service representatives in New England Telephone'sbusiness offices obtain information from residence and business customers that later becomes part of the White Pages of a directory. This information is transmitted to the directory department where clerical personnel take special care that these changes and additions are made correctly.

Today's directory includes information such as time zones and zip codes, and guidelines for dealing with annoyance callers.

Area telephone numbers can be obtained fastest by looking in the fully indexed directory. Yet many unnecessary calls are made each day for directory assistance.

The Ability To Manage

As a month of the acting managership of J. Maynard Austin nears an end, the effectiveness of administration becomes more strained.

Austin was made acting manager on Sept. 2 as the majority of the board of selectmen found there was a legal technicality involved in appointing him to less than a five year term.

He had been informed in April that he would be reappointed for another two years to complete a five year term.

Since that time relationships between the manager and various boardds, principally the selectmen, the appointing authority and the finance colmmittee, have been strained to say the least.

The appointment this week of a director of the Andover Haven was another example.

Austin had intended to upgrade the position to coordinator of elder affairs at a salary higher than budgeted, with the funds to be taken from the compensation fund.

Selectman Richard J. Bowen questioned the manager's actions, in changing the title olf the post and increasing the salary, which was his right.

Austin replied that he felt he had the right, under terms of the charter, to establish positions and set salaries.

There followed some strong verbal exchanges between the two, before Austin finally recommended the candidate as director of the Haven at a lesser salary. Bowen moved for the appointment.

In essence, Bowen could well have been right on this one. Town meeting has reluctantly acted on the establishment of new positions in the town employ. The process has traditionally been to present any new municipal positions at budget and town meeting time.

The Finance Committee, an advisory group to the town, has in recent months, become a strong voice, in questioning some of the manager's decisions or request. This week he was to come before the FinCom again on a request for additional funds to operate the health department for the remainder of the year.

FinCom would like the manager to go to town meeting in October for the necessary funds. Selectmen have asked to see if the funds can be transferred from the reserve fund.

Basically what is happening in the administrative area of town government, is the creation of an air of suspicion about every move.

Selectmen question the manager, Austin asks the board for guidance, agenda items fail to be reached on occasion, and there is in general some rather strong feelings apparent in actions on both sides of the table.

The result, of course, is that the effectiveness of the manager to administrate the town is seriously impaired.

And, as time continues to move, it is apparent that those who would make a change in the administration of the town, would rather the effort were made by some outside force.

While not public in their views, there has been the suggestion that the press has been defensive of the manager, that politics has been played effectively to retain Austin in his position, among other conversations of the street.

Such conversation, of course, is satisfying to vent one's ire, but fails to be responsive to the heart of the matter.

The fact remains that the tenure of the town manager, regardless of who it may be is in the hands of five people, the elected members of the board of selectmen.

No one, the press, the general public, the finance committee, or anyone else, can make the decision as to who sits at the head of the town's government.

It seems only proper that the board make a decision on the administrator and more importantly tell the public the reasons why, which is all anyone has been asking for the past year and one-half.

We feel that the majority of the board would like a change in administration, and suggest that for the sake of the effectiveness of the administration of Andover's municipal government, that the matter be disposed of soon.

WEEKLY SPECIAL

SEC Investigating ITT's Role in Chile

by Jack Anderson
with Joe Spear

WASHINGTON — Five years ago, we broke a startling story about the secret shenanigans of the Central Intelligence Agency and the International Telephone and Telegraph company in Chile. We reported that the CIA and ITT had worked together to block the late Chilean President Salvador Allende from taking office.

Both the CIA and ITT denied our story. It took a Senate investigation to get the facts out. But ex-CIA director Richard Helms and ITT boss Harold Geneen allegedly withheld facts from the Senate.

Now we've learned that a grand jury has recommended multiple-count indictments against Helms and Geneen. This has produced rumors that an angry Helms has threatened to bring down others, including former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, if he is indicted.

The rumors became so persistent that Kissinger confronted Helms privately. The former CIA chief said he had no intention of embarrassing Kissinger.

Helms feels he merely carried out orders. He was supposed to protect secret intelligence operations. This was the reason, he explained, that he didn't tell the Senate everything he knew.

The Securities and Exchange Commission, meanwhile, is conducting its own secret investigation into ITT's role in Chile. SEC investigators have already interviewed Geneen. And just last week, the SEC investigators questioned Edward Korry, the former U.S. ambassador to Chile.

According to sources close to the investigation, Korry gave details of ITT's misconduct in Chile. He also provided the investigators with a list of witnesses who can offer more information. The charges involve alleged fraud and perjury.

Restless Republicans: The Democrats are taking a battering in Washington. Bert Lance has lost the fight for his political life. House Speaker Thomas "Tip" O'Neill has been linked to the Korean payoff man, Tongsun Park. Other Democratic congressmen have been accused of accepting cash from the Koreans. And President Carter is slipping in the polls.

All this has brought new hope to the Republicans. Both Gerald Ford and Ronald Reagan, according to their friends, are interested in a rematch in 1980. Both men are in excellent health and appear younger than their ages. But Ford will be 66 and Reagan will be 69 in 1980.

So some of the younger Republican leaders are also stirring. In Texas, both ex-Treasury Secretary John Connally and ex-CIA director George Bush have presidential ambitions.

Bush has frankly discussed his intentions with Ford. Bush has also received some early advice from Ford's campaign manager, James Baker. Meanwhile, Connally is putting together a campaign organization.

Three Republican Senators – Howard Baker of Tennessee, Robert Dole of Kansas and Charles Percy of Illinois – have been bitten by the presidential bug. And at least two governors – Robert Ray of Iowa and Jim Thompson of Illinois – also have their eyes on the White House.

Most of the prospects plan to campaign actively in the 1978 congressional campaign. They remember it was Richard Nixon's stump work that won the right friends and influenced the right politicians. He later cashed in their political IOU's to gain the Republican nomination.

Spotless Shepherd: The White House, believe it or not, has run a security check on a dog.

He's a sturdy German shepherd named "Turkey." But he's no ordinary dog. He carries an identification card on his collar – complete with picture.

Turkey, it seems, helps to patrol the White House grounds. Like all White-House personnel, he underwent an intensive FBI background check. The FBI made sure he had nothing in his pedigree indicating mental or emotional instability.

The FBI's investigation of Turkey's past was so extensive, according to a Secret Service spokesman, that the dog's pawprint is now recorded in FBI files.

Watch on Waste: The federal government wants tourists to be comfortable when they visit Washington. So the Park Service provides handy restrooms for their convenience. Last month the Park Service equipped these restrooms with seven toilet-paper holders. This, no doubt, is in the public interest. But we've now learned what they cost the taxpayers: $575 for the seven holders. That comes to $82 each.

– Some local governments are coming up with novel ideas on how to spend federal money designed to relieve unemployment. Local officials in Ventura County, Calif., for example, have developed a unique plan that will consume $385,000 and put 100 people on the payroll. They will conduct a census. But they'll be counting dogs instead of people.

Bible Study: The awesome responsibilities of the presidency haven't disrupted Jimmy Carter's religious studies. The president has told visitors that he has read the entire Bible twice before, and is now reading the Holy Scriptures for the third time. He and First Lady Rosalynn Carter, he says, are each reading alternate chapters of a Spanish-language Bible.

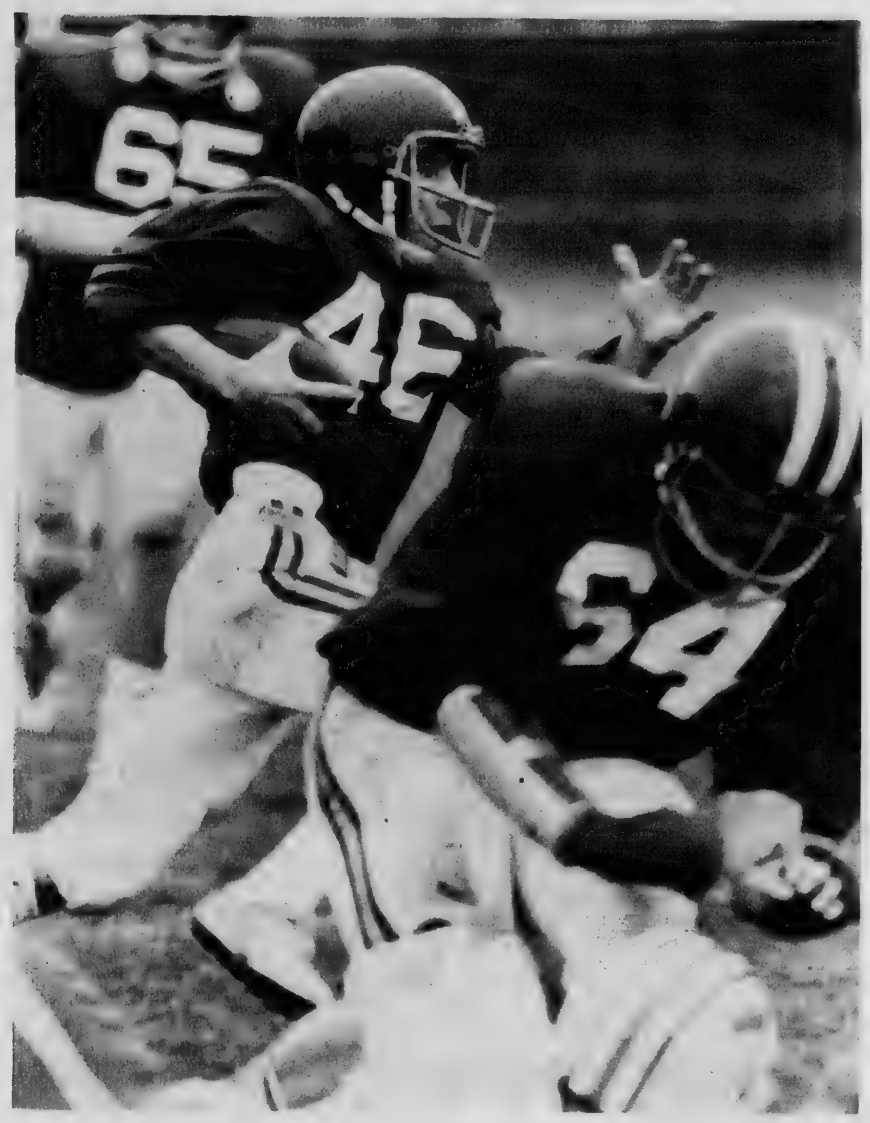
Warriors Bow To Tewksbury



Heading For Goal Line

Paul Farnham (46), with some blocking assistance from Len Driscoll (64) and Mark Hopkins, (65) heads for the goal line during Saturday's rain-drenched game with Tewksbury.

By Rick Harrison

The Andover High football team has put 59 points on the scoreboard in its first two games . . . not unusual at all for a Dick Collins team.

However, the Golden Warriors have surrendered 53 points over that same stretch . . . very unusual for a Dick Collins team.

Last Saturday, with Tewksbury High halfback Jay Petros running over and around AHS people for 227 yards in 38 carries and three touchdowns, the visiting Redmen whipped Andover 26-13 in a steady downpour at Lovely Field.

It marked the Merrimack Valley Conference opener for both schools, and the result left the Warriors at 1-1 overall, while Tewksbury improved to 2-0 and now has captured 11 of its last 12 starts.

AHS was hurt by a pair of questionable officials' decisions, one call that was made and one that wasn't, but in the end it was really Jay Petros and a ball control offense that spelled Andover's doom.

Last season Tewksbury was the team that ended the Warriors' lengthy undefeated streak at 40 games, posting a 7-0 triumph.

In that one Petros, who ran for 1,161 yeyards and scored 84 points as a junior in 1976, wasn't a factor at all. He was held to under 50 yards rushing.

No such luck this time around, and in two games this season the chunky 5'10", 190-pound back has now rushed for 483 yards and scored 36 points.

Hogging the ball

It took both clubs some time to get used to the soggy weather, although under the conditions the play was remarkably error-free, but the Redmen exhibited their first bit of ball control on their second possession.

Tewksbury put a Dave Alexander punt in play at its own 18 yard line midway through the first quarter, and proceeded to use almost five minutes and 12 plays enroute to an 82-yard touchdown march.

Petros, who scored three first half TDs as well in a 20-12 win over Division 1 school Belmont High two weeks ago, carried 10 times in the drive for 78 of those yards.

The big burst was a 37 yarder with a pitchout to the right side, and he eventually swept into the endzone on a fourth and goal play from the four yard line.

The AHS defense had kept Tewksbury off the board for three previous plays, starting at the seven yard line, until Petros connected.

Matt Riddle lined up to attempt the PAT kick, but the center snap was low and skidded through holder Biran Wolfe's hands.

That kept the score at 6-0 with 44 seconds gone in the second period.

Farnham's Fourth

It took AHS only six plays after the ensuing kickoff by Riddle to retaliate and grab its only lead of the contest.

Fullback Greg Gardner opened the 84 yard trek to paydirt with an eight yard run, but then quarterback Dan Welch was stopped for a loss of three.

Welch, who went 10-for-11 through the air for 209 yards and four TDs against Pentucket Regional, had his passing game somewhat neutralized by the rain.

He missed connections on his first five tosses, two of which slipped through the receivers' hands, but Dan kept this drive going with a seven yard firstdown completion to Rick Collins at the 28.

Junior halfback Ed Collins bucked for seven yards, and then Welch kept for eight more to the 43.

AHS came up with an end-around play to Paul Farnham, and it looked as though the junior wide receiver would lose yardage when the slock ball slipped from his hands behind the lineof scrimmage.

However, Farnham barely broke stride as he recovered the loose ball, and once he reached the right sideline he reversed his field and cut back across the grain to daylight on the left.

Once he got a step ahead of the Tewksbury secondary it was all over, as the fleet Farnham sped 57 yards for his fourth TD of the young season.

Manny Silva came in and drilled his fifth conversion kick of the campaign through the uprights, giving AHS a 7-6 edge at 3:30.

Petros Power

The Redmen took the following kickoff and churned 65 yards in eight plays for the go-ahead touchdown at 6:44.

Petros kept the march alive when Coach Bob Aylward gambled on a fourth-and-1 situation at his own 44 yard line. Jay bulled for two yards, and after a holding penalty put Tewksbury back, Petros caught a 26 yard aerial from Brian Wolfe at the Andover 43.

Petros took a pitch right and rambled 43 yards to paydirt on the following play, one that saw the entire Andover coaching staff and defensive end Jim Arnold get very steamed over a penalty they felt was obvious and wasn't called.

The TD gave the Redmen a 12-7 advantage, and it stayed that way when a Wolfe aerial for Riddle fell incomplete on the conversion.

Arnold Hurt

Two plays after the kickoff Arnold was hurt on a spectacular try for a Welch pass, being hit and flipped as he went for the ball.

The 6'3" junior end came down on the back of his neck, but the injury was to his right knew and he was taken to the hospital for examination and treatment.

On the very next play Redmen safety Pat Puzzo made the first of his two pass thefts, picking off a toss intended for Farnham at the Warriors' 46.

Wolfe fired a third down pass to Petros (who else?) for 22 yards, but it looked like the AHS defense would dig in and hold at its 24.

On fourth down and nine Petros was stopped for no gain, but unfortunately a Warrior defender was nailed for a facemask penalty which advanced the ball to the 12 for an automatic first down.

Petros picked up five yards, then four and covered the final three to chalk up his third TD of the half with 22 seconds left before intermission.

Petros' rush for the points was stopped, but the score was 18-7 which marks the biggest halftime deficit for AHS in quite some time.

Andover made a decent bid to close the gap in the remaining half minute, after Rick Collins returned the kickoff 20 yards to the 34.

A nine-yard aerial to Rick Collins and a holding penalty on Tewksbury brought the ball to the Redman 42, but a pass to Farnham missed and a bomb to Ed Collins at the 10 yard line was knocked down by Puzzo as time expired.

Petros gained 150 of his yards in the opening two periods, and the Redmen ran off 36 plays to 26 for Andover.

Brief Comeback

Tewksbury became extremely stingy in the final half, controlling the ball for 39 plays to just 13 for the Golden Warriors.

The fourth quarter saw AHS run only four plays and have the ball for less than one of the 10 minutes.

There was still time for a comeback in the third period, however, as Collins' crew sped 54 yards in four plays following a short 18 yard punt by Riddle.

Welch hit two and three yard passes to Rick Collins and Joe Terrion, sandwiched around a seven yard run by Rick Collins, and the touchdown came on a 42-yard pass-and-run play to Terrion.

Terrion ran a simple pattern from the left side, cutting towards the middle, taking the short pass and sprinting to the endzone.

The snap to Terrion on Silva's PAT attempt skidded low, and the holder was sacked by Riddle before he could try a two-point play.

However, with 6½ minutes remaining in the third stanza, Andover was right back in the game at 18-13.

Moments later Wolfe lobbed a short pass to Petros, who fumbled the ball at the Redmen 28 with Dana Merrill recovering.

Welch threw an incomplete pass to Rick Collins, then was sacked by linebacker Bill Ashe for a 10 yard loss. Gardner lost another yard on a draw play, forcing a punt which Alexander angled neatly out of bounds at the Tewksbury six.

Insurance Score

Little did Andover realize at the time it would hardly touch the ball again, as Tewksbury proceeded to drive 94 yards in 21 plays while eating up over 10 minutes on the clock.

Petros ran twice for eight yards each time, and the third period closed with an 11 yard pass completion to Phil Keon.

Petros, Mike Silverio and Paul Weitz brought the ball to midfield, where a key fourth-and-two situation arose.

Riddle dropped back to punt, and in a crucial call a rushing Andover lineman was nailed for roughing the kicker to give Tewksbury a first down at the Andover 31.

The call was questionable at best, and kept the Redmen drive alive.

Silverio gained three yards on a fourth down and two play at the 23, but a clipping penalty backtracked the ball to the AHS 34.

Wolfe then fired successive 15 and 11 yard passes to Keon, and following an offside against the Redmen, Wolfe pitched a 13-yard TD strike to Silverio.

Len Driscoll intercepted the conversion pass, keeping it 24-13, but Tewksbury had left the Warriors only 3:06 to catch up.

Puzzo Interception

Pat Puzzo killed the miracle finish hopes quickly, picking off a Welch pass for Ed Collins at the AHS 35.

Back to ball control, as the visitors ran off eight more plays before a drive fizzled at the Andover 10 with less than a minute to play.

Welch chucked a pass to Terrion that gained just one yard, then threw one incomplete, and the final play of the game saw Ashe break through and trip Welch in the endzone for a two-point safety and the 26-13 final.

Statistics

Tewksbury led in virtually every department, topping Andover in first downs (18-9), yards rushing (247-81), yards passing (110-65), total yardage (357-146) and scrimmage plays (75-39).

The Warriors were held to -15 yards rushing in the second half and just 34 yards overall.

Welch hit 6-of-18 passes and Wolfe 8-of-17.

Alexander averaged 34 yards for three punts, Riddle 24 for two.

Tewksbury was hit with 10 penalties for 88 yards, while AHS took only four penalties totalling 46 yards.

Farnham was the top AHS ground gainer with 57 yards in one carry.

Terrion caught three passes for 46 yards, Rick Collins three for 19, but Farnham was kept off the board.

This Week

Andover travels to Wilmington this Saturday for a 1:30 p.m. MVC game.

. Coach Fred Bellissimo's Wildcats, defending co-champs with Tewksbury and Division 2 Super Bowl losers last December, are 1-0-1 to date.

Wilmington opened with a 0-0 tie against Division 1 Stoneham, stopping the Spartans twice inside the two yard line in the final four minutes to preserve the tie.

Last week the 'Cats dumped Austin Prep, 24-8, as Tim Moran scored twice and the first defensive unit held AP to -17 yards rushing and -6 yards total offense in the first half.

Weather Doesn't Dampen Soccer Spirit

By Sue Livermore

For the second week in a row, all of the teams in the Andover Soccer Association had to play their games in the rain, which at times was quite heavy. While the downpour did not dampen the enthusiasm of the players, undoubtedly their parents are hoping for better weather this Saturday.

Unfortunately the girls' teams could not play since vandals uprooted the goal posts on the East Junior High Field.

Junior Division:

Metros 6 - BiCentennials 0

The Metros were the victors in their game against the BiCentennials although the BiCentennials demonstrated that their skills are rapidly improving under the direction of Coaches Sue Shannon and Nancy Henderson. In the first quarter, Geofrrey Bolan scored for the Metros on a penalty shot. In the second and third quarters, Nicky Coon booted in goals to make the score 3 to nothing. In the final quarter, Nicky Coon again scored, as well as teammates Geoffrey Bolan and Brian Cronin, making the final score 6-0. Fine performances were turned in by Tommy Morton of the BiCentennials and Chris Nelson, Geoffrey Bolan and Nicky Coon of the Metros.

White Caps 8 - Sounders 0

The WhiteCaps dominated the play in their game against the Sounders and won with a score of 8-0. Several players for the Sounders turned in superior performances (Joey Boucher, Half Back, Mark DeNitto, Centre Forward and Booth Kyle, Full Back) and goalie David Schwind's superb saves kept the WhiteCaps from running up a higher score. The WhiteCaps played an excellent game, particularly good performances were turned in by Stephen Redgate and Eric McDowell.

Cosmos 8 - Aztecs 2

There was a lot of action in the game between the Cosmos and the Aztecs. In the first quarter, Chris Sapuppo of the Cosmos scored on a pass from Matthew DellaCroce. In the second quarter, Jamie O'Brien of the Aztecs tied the game, however, shortly thereafter, Chris Sapuppo again scored, followed by teammate Matthew DellaCroce who booted one in on a pass from Mark Neaves; meeting the challenge, Ronnie Forbes of the Aztecs then scored on a pass from Kyle McCabe, making the score 3-2. In the third quarter, Mark Neaves scored on a pass from Chris Sapuppo, and shortly thereafter the Cosmos were awarded a penalty goal kick which goalie Bill Scanlon of the Aztecs blocked in a superb save. David Sorrie of the Cosmos scored a goal in the fourth quarter and teammate Mark Neaves followed it up with three more, two on passes from Matthew Alden and one on a pass from Matthew McKinnon. Final score 8-2. It should be noted that Goalie Eric Jedrzejek for the Aztecs and Goalies David Flanders, David Pratt, Matthew DellaCroce and Chris Sapuppo for the Cosmos blocked many assaults on the nets.

Fine performances were also turned in by Scott Brink, Matthew Corbett and Mark Kubas of the Aztecs, and Matthew Alden of the Cosmos.

Intermediate Division:

Tornadoes 3 - Lancers 1

Both the Tornadoes and the Lancers battled for a goal in the first quarter of their game, without succcess. In the second quarter, Zack Apgar scored for the Tornadoes, followed by a goal booted in by John Crawford of the Lancers. The third quarter saw no change in the score despite very many assaults on the goal by both teams. In the fourth quarter, Zack Apgar again scored a goal on a pass from Scott Colitz, and teammate Andrew Sartory booted one in on a pass from Barry Tucker, giving the Tornadoes the win. Final score 3-1. Goalies David Bartle and Tom Novelline of the Tornadoes, and John Crawford of the Lancers are to be complimented on their fine effort. Other fine performances were turned in by Barry Tucker and Zack Apgar of the Tornadoes and David Keene and Jeff Kennedy of the Lancers.

Timbers 3 - Rowdies 2

The Rowdies played against the Timbers in their first game of the season and after a slow start, they proved themselves to be very competitive. In the first quarter, Eric Neyman of the Timbers scored on a pass from John Drake; this was soon followed up by another goal scored by Glenn Livermore on a pass from Eric Neyman. In the second quarter, the Timbers scored their third goal when Brian McAnally booted one in on a pass from teammate Jeffrey Ashworth. The Rowdies were putting it altogether at this point and Tom Bride scored their first goal on a pass from Fran Sullivan. The third quarter was exciting as botrh teams battled back and forth trying to score, without success.

Most of the action in the final quarter took place in the Timbers' goal area as the Lancers made several attempts to penetrate their defense. Coach Victor Mill's strategy of concentrating his strength in the defensive area paid off and whilst Chris Comparato of the Rowdies did nudge one in, the Timbers were the victors with a final score of 3-2. Both teams played very well, particularly fine performances were turned in by Tom Bride of the Rowdies, and Steven McDowell and John Drake of the Timbers.

Senior Division:

Strikers 3 - Stings 0

The Strikers were successful in winning their game against the Stings 3-0. In the first quarter, Stephen Holt Scored a goal, the lead was increased to two in the second quarter when John Lawless booted one in. The third quarter saw lots of action and the Stings made several attempts to score unsuccessfully. In the final quarter, Brian McGettrick booted in another goal for the Strikers. Credit for the shut-out goes to goalies Brent Ballard and Mark Edgar who defended the nets brilliantly. Fine performances were turned in by David Oskar and Peter Bradford of the Stings.

Earthquakes 1 - Quicksilvers 0

The Earthquakes and the Quicksilvers displayed some fancy footwork in their game, which remained scoreless until the third quarter. Both sides swapped the ball back and forth and provided many exciting moments for the spectators. In the third quarter, Peter Scanlon scored a goal on a pass from teammate Todd Lockwood giving the Earthquakes the lead. The fourth quarter remained scoreless, giving the Earthquakes the win 1-0. Fine performances were turned in by Kurt Oliver and Todd Lockwood of the Earthquakes, and Tim Kinsky, Dan Boland and Chris Egan of the Quicksilvers.

spread them out not knowing what to expect at any time.

Childs played a very strong game in the nets turning back 18 scoring opportunities for Andover vs Andover seemed to play it best team game of the season. The Andover defenders were exceptionally strong allowing only 10 shots on goal with Defusco called on to save only four as the others went wide or were stopped by a defender.

Steve Luby played very well filling in for the injured Tony Cammatata, and Peter Price and Eric Brant filled in for the injured Carl Gutermann at left midfield. Co-Capt. Dave Johnson played his standard excellent game at mid field and Mike Silvermann filled in both at right and left defense as shifts were made in the defensive allignment. John Kinsky played an excellent right wing position during the final stanza. It was an all around excellent team performance and it is this type of unselfish play that makes league contenders.

Friday afternoon, Andover plays Lawrence at home kick off is 3:30 p.m. Lawrence seems to be an offensive powerhouse scoring nine goals in three games and is tied in second place with Billerica.

Strangely enough, we really don't live forever.

Wouldn't it be nice if we could, though? We might eliminate a lot of anxiety and responsibility. Things like providing for the family, getting the children through college. Or maybe, how we can pay off a mortgage or buy out a business partner.

Since we don't know how many years we'll get, doesn't it make sense to protect the important things in life right now?

Annual "Andy 500" Few Weeks Away

The Third Annual "Andy 500" Road Race will be held on Saturday, Oct. 15 at the "School Street Speedway."

Sponsored by the Andover Recreation Community Schools Department, the Andy 500 has grown in popularity over the past two years and promises to be a big event again this year.

The event is open to all students in grades 1-9 whose parents either reside or work in Andover. White competition begins at 11 a.m., cars and drivers must be ready for inspection, registration and practice at 9:30 a.m. Trophies will be awarded to first and second place finishers in both competintg classes. Classes are divided into solo driver and double driver categories. In order to even up the skill level of the participants, each competitor participates against racers in his/her own age group. Classes therefore are further broken down into grades 1-3; grades 4-6; and grades 7-9.

Ribbons will be awarded to all third place finishers as well as to winners of non-racing events. Non-racing events include selection of the most attractive and the safest vehicles and the picking of the "Andy 500 Bomb."

All cars should be designed primarily with safety and speed in mind. Official entry forms as well as a list of the official "Andy 500" rules are available at the Recreation Community Schools Department, elementary and junior high schools, The Sport Shop and Andover Hockey Shop. Additional information may be obtained by calling the Recreation Community Schools office at 475-5045.

Ocean Lecture

"The Ocean As A Teacher," the first in the fall series of lectures, will be given by Dr. Allyn C. Vine of the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institute Oct. 6 at the New England Aquarium, Central Wharf, Boston.

The 7 p.m. session is free and open to the plublic.

The Second Annual Andover Recreation Community Schools Department Junior Tennis Tournament was completed on Sept. 18.

Rain delayed the start of play until Sunday morning, which became a perfect day for tennis. Thirty five players were entered in the six divisions of competition, four singles and two doubles. This coincidentally was the same number of entrants as last year; it was hoped that this year's tournament would attract a larger number of players. Unfortunately, publicity for the tournament had to be withheld until five days before play began and this may have reduced the turnout. Maybe next year's edition will be larger. Mark Mitchell won the boys 13 and 14 singles, surviving a three set second round match against Michael Sherman; Mark defeated Tom Ponti in the finals.

John O'Connor and Jeff Chiang met in the boys 12 and under finals. Their match was stopped at one set apiece due to darkness. They completed the match later in the week with John O'Connor taking the third set handily. Ed O'Connor and Gary Flieder survived a valiant comeback by John O'Connor and Bill Murphy in the boys doubles semi-finals; Ed and Gary went on to defeat Gary Coon and Colin Radford in the finals winning the first set in a tiebreaker.

Barbara Clark was never in trouble in her match to the girls 13 and 14 singles title. She defeated Wendy Hering in the finals. Anne Maher overpowered her opponents in the girls 12 and under singles, defeating Jahna Malitsky in the finals, In the girls doubles, Barbara Clark and Cindy Radford won their matches in straight sets, defeating Cathy Clark and Jana Caldwell in the finals.

Initially, it was planned to add singles and doubles divisions for boys and girls up to 16 of age however circumstances prevented it this year — maybe it will be possible next year. A summary of all matches is given below.

Girls' Soccer Begins

The Andover girls soccer Team II lost their initial game Sunday against Beverly, 7 - 1. Dottie Mellet scored Andover's only goal with an assist from Lynn Gyeska in the first half.

Other exceptional players were Grace Emmert and Linda Griggs. Asst. Coach Peter Chicklis is optimistic for the rest of the season and anticipates some exciting games. Their next game is Sunday, Oct. 2, at 1 p.m. at Chelmsford.

Soccer Team I, coached by Tom Flannery, showed some good potential while losing 7 - 3 to Chelmsford. Right inner Sue Lindholm played an excellent game contributing two goals. Right fullback Julie Seymour also scored with a well-placed direct kick.

Wings Sandy Fitzpatrick and Polly Whitley showed great effort in this initial game, as well as goalie Amy Loosigian. Coach Flannery is confident that with a little more practice, the girls will soon be in the winning column. Team I plays Peabody next Sunday at home.

Net Tourney Rescheduled

Those participating in the tournament are advised to call the office for further information.

Three hundred pounds of wet kelp, a seaweed, can produce three pounds of methane gas. Methanogenic bacteria are put into vats with kelp. As bacteria break the kelp down they produce methane as a waste product, Massachusetts Audubon points out. This process occurs naturally in swamps where decaying matter is converted into swamp gas which is methane.

Apgar Leads P.A. Booters

Led by Captain LeeApgar, the Phillips Academy Varsity Soccer Team opened its season Wednesday. This year's squad was chosen from among a record 62 candidates who reported for pre-season practice on Sept. 18 and includes nine returning lettermen from last year's squad which earned a 7-5 record, topped by a 2-0 defeat of arch-rival Exeter.

Three returning lettermen are from the greater Andover area. Fullbacks Jimmy Demetroulakas and Lefty Michailides are from Lowell;

Captain Apgar, who begins his fourth year as the starting goalie, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Apgar of Phillips Academy. In recognition of his superb play last season, Apgar was named to the All New England Region 1 High School Soccer team.

The 13-game schedule includes games against JV teams from Dartmouth, Harvard, Tufts, MIT, Emerson and Babson as well as contests against traditional prep-school rivals: Governor Dummer, Tabor, Northfield-Mt. Hermon, St. Paul's, Deerfield, Worcester Academy, and Exeter. The public is invited to all home games, which are played on the varsity soccer field, adjacent to the football field.

Circus Coming To Boston

The new 106th edition of Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey circus will appear at the Boston Garden from Wednesday, Oct. 19 through Monday, Oct. 31, with a kaleidoscope of Circus superlatives, a spectacular overflowing with outstanding attractions, production extravaganzas and debut performances.

The new edition features acts and atrtractions from more than 15 countries. Among the headliners are: Ursula Boettcher and her 10 performing polar bears — the first act of its kind in this country in over 30 years, and the second Circus act from the German Democratic Republic ever to appear in the U. S.; Charly Baumann, internationally acclaimed tiger trainer; Michu, the Smallest Man in the World; the Gaona Family, world-famous aerialists featuring Tito Gaona in a perilous blindfold triple somersault; New York City's King Charles Troupe, combining basketball and unicycle wizardry; Elvin Bale and his death-defying leap from the single trapeze; equestrienne Jeannette Williams exhibiting a handsome parade of Lippizan stallions; Axel Gautier, commanding the world's largest herd of performing elephants, and a host of other three-ring favorites.

Distinguished artists making their debut with The Greatest Show on Earth; The Tzekovi Highwire Troupe from Bulgaria in a display of aerial expertise introducing the world's only wire-walking bear; The Flying Farias, trapeze artists from Cuba, featuring 13-year-old Julio Faria, the youngest person to master the triple somersault; The Grantcharovi from Bulgaria in graceful arrobatic adagio; the Wozniaks of Poland, persenting teeterboard thrills.

The World's Largest Collection of Clowns add zany antics to the merriment, with Prince Paul from Boston, Mark Anthony and "chief clown" Steve LaPorte leading the Laugh Brigade.

Five new production extravaganzas sparkle in a million dollar wardrobe to make this circus memorable. The extraordinary super-spedtacle saluting Circus in America culminates in the flower-festooned Circus wedding of Michu and his Lilliputian lady-love Juliana. Presented in the grand tradition of General Tom Thumb's celebrated nuptials to his tiny spouse, Michu's marriage is complete with a wedding party composed of the entire Circus, plus 52 children selected from the audience who join the performers in the festivities.

Thisd year's engagement includes 25 performances. Tickets are available at the Boston Garden Box Office and local Ticketron outlets.

engineered by the consultants, in specific cases.

FinCom members also questioned when there would be an end to consultants and staff people doing similar work.

As for the funds to be requested of town meeting, Selectman Philip Salamone and Albert Cole expressed concern about what would happen if the items were disapproved, based on the contention that the department would be forced to cease operations.

It was the general consensus that the items would get FinCom approval and hopefull that of the voters as well.

Open House

New owners of the Andover Gift House were introduced during an open house held at the Main Street store last Friday afternoon. From left, Mr. and Mrs. Austin E. Andersoln, who are retiring; Sara Mears and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Mears, new owners.

Manager

Bowen said that this fund is to be used only for agreements arrived at it in collective bargaining processes.

But Austin felt the money could be used to reclassify positions, noting the charter grants the manager the right to set salaries and establish positions.

Bowen contended that the co-ordinator of elder affairs was a new position and as such should go through the budget process. He noted that town meeting has traditionally been very jealous about creating new posts in the town. This past year, he noted only one new post was offered for consideration, an assistant assessor, and was turned down.

Austin said that the recommendation was an expansion of the old position and would provide more services for the town's senior citizens.

Bowen insisted that it was a new position and as such should go through the process of being presented to the selectmen, to the finance committee and ultimately to town meeting.

Austin charged Bowen with using the procedure as a stalling tactic.

Bowen quickly took exception to the manager's comments stating he felt it was sandbagging and demanded an apology, but none was forthcoming.

Bowen moved the appointment of Dorothy Winn to the $8,800 position of director of the Haven, on Austin's recommendation, and it was approved unanimously.

After the appointment was confirmed, Donald Scott of the Andover Council on Aging attacked Bowen for his tactics in the matter, stating that the members of the council were so disgusted "we might lose the whole group tomorrow."

Dorothy Winn has worked with the Council on Aging in Billerica and is a graduate of the University of Massachusetts with a degree in political science. She also has a certificate in gerantological studies from the University of New Hampshire and has additional credits in that field.

No. Reading Reaffirms Water Policy

North Reading selectmen Wednesday voted to reaffirm its policy not to supply water to an Andover resident.

In a letter to be sent to Andover selectmen, North Reading officials said they would not alter their policy which prohibits supplying water to out of town "businesses" which they feel Mohammed Khusro is conducting.

Khusro, who lives on Jenkins Road, on the North Reading line, has a stable and horse ring on his property. North Reading officials refused to supply water for other than household use.

Khusro appeared before the Andover town manager and selectmen seeking relief and asking that he be supplied with water with Andover supplying water to the neighboring town.

Andover selectmen referred the matter back to North Reading, which has agreement with the town to get water in case of emergency.

At a meeting in Andover several weeks ago, residents of the Jenkins Road area protested the Khusro operation, insisting it was a business.

Testing

assume "that our students really do know math."

All of the scores for Grades 4 through 9 were above the 80th percentile. Grade 6 was tops at 94, followed by Grade 4 at 92, Grades 5 and 8 at 91, Grade 7 at 86 and Grade 9 at 82.

Even though Grade 9 was the lowest of the other Andover classes, it went "off the scale" in the grade equivalency department. The national average for grade equivalency on that subtest in Grade 9, is 9.9 — or ninth grade, ninth month. Andover students, however, scored at 13.0 — or 13th grade.

Town Topics

Also on the agenda will be a final go at a revised "reduction in force" policy that's geared "to keep the best qualified and best performing teachers" should staff cuts become necessary. The major change is that cuts would be made on a system-wide rather than a school by school basis. Another revision is that within the probationary and tenured categories, reductions would be based on evaluations, training and experience, rather than purely on seniority.

ment officials of the post office department to discuss the matter.

Hannon notes in his letter requesting the meeting that postal management and the Andover town officials have had continuing differences over relocation of the post office facilities here. The result of those differences is an arbitrary move on the part of postal officials to move the operation to Lawrence, which the union contends will lead to overcrowding, and an uneconomical move.

The letter was forwarded to Morris Biller, coordinator of the New York Metro Region, American Postal Workers Union.

The postal employees are also pointing to the fact that in Lawrence they will be allotted 4400 square feet, while in their present facility they have 4,636, thus there is sufficient room to operate in Andover.

Financial arguments are also discounted, as it is pointed out that the Andover post office had a profit of $245,000 last year and the Shawsheen station $14,000. The Ballardvale office had a deficit, but only because business mail, which should be processed there is credited to the main office.

Energy conservation, another argument being used in favor or retention of the present facilities, include the following statistics:

Twenty-two jeeps leaving Lawrence to Andover and return (8 miles), 176 miles.

Fifty employees reporting to Lawrence and return (8 miles), 400 miles.

Two hundred and twenty five box holders in Ballardvale travelling daily to Andover and return (4 miles), 900 miles.

Seventy four average daily window transactions (4 miles), 296 miles.

Eighty box holders in Shawsheen travelling daily to Andover and return (2 miles), 160 miles.

Two hundred and fifteen average daily window transactions (2 miles), 430 miles.

2362 miles a day wasted plus Lawrence delivery of box mail, special delivery and letter box collections.

Town officials are working with the residents and postal workers in an effort to get the decision turned around and are appealing to Congressman Paul S. Tsongas for assistance, along with other members of the congresional delegation.

The first effort is aimed at getting a delay in the proposed Nov. 5 move to Lawrence.

Additional signatures will be sought this weekend in the effort to preserve Andover postal service as it stands.

About two years ago the post office announced plans to build a new processing facility on Andover street. This was opposed and following receipt of signatures, the site was dropped.
